23. The letter of award, these Terms and Conditions and the Application constitutes the entire agreement between the University and the Awardee with regard to the Project and supersedes all prior and contemporaneous agreements or communications.
24. A party shall not be liable for failure to perform its obligations under this Contract, nor be liable to any claim for compensation or damage, nor be deemed to be in breach of this Contract, if such failure arises from an occurrence or circumstances beyond the reasonable control of that party (a "Force Majeure Event") (excluding an obligation to make payment). If a party affected by such an occurrence causes a delay of three (3) months or more, and if such delay may reasonably be anticipated to continue, then the Parties shall, in consultation with the EPSRC, discuss whether continuation of the Project is viable, or whether the Project and this Contract should be terminated. Should the Project be deemed viable the Parties will amend this Contract accordingly with respect to Project dates and budget.
25. Notwithstanding the provisions of clause 24 above, where the Awardee (or its Project partner where applicable) is affected by a Force Majeure Event, they shall notify the University as soon as reasonably possible to notify the University of any delay or non-performance of its obligations under this Contract and an estimation of the duration or such delay or non-performance.
